ROBINSON-HABER

FORMER GLENDALE GIRL BECOMES THE BRIDE OF MISSIONARY TO GUATEMALA

Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Haines were guests Saturday evening at the wedding of Miss Genevieve Haber to William Robinson, a missionary from Guatemala, who was in army service at Camp Lewis at the time the armistice was declared, and is now connected with the Y. M. C. A. in Los Angeles. The bride was at one time a resident of Glendale when her father, W. P. Haber, was prominent in the Baptist Church here. After his death she and her mother and a sister, now Mrs. S. Wall, of Fresno, moved to Los Angeles.

The wedding took place at the home of Dr. Knapp, of Arden avenue, Los Angeles, Dr. James Francis, assisted by Rev. Eugene Haines performing the ceremony for which a beautiful setting had been provided in a bower of white roses and dahlias, the officiating clergyman standing upon a raised platform. The bride was a most winsome figure in her gown of white messaline draped with her bridal veil which was crowned with a wreath of orange blossoms. She was preceded by a little flower girl and attended by Miss Jane Knapp, a soldier friend of the groom acting as best man. As a preliminary to the Mendelssohn Wedding March, a fine musical program of appropriate vocal and instrumental numbers was given.

After the twain had been made one and received the congratulations of their friends, a dainty wedding supper was served to the assembled guests numbering about fifty, a unique feature of this part of the function being the individual ices moulded in the form of cupids, some lying upon heart-shaped pillows, others poised with bow and arrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson left the same night for a week's stay in the mountains and on their return will be at home to their friends for a few weeks at their apartment in the Y. M. C. A.

HAROLD PREEMAN COMING

Mrs. Richardson D. White has returned from Hermosa. She received a message some days ago that her son Harold H. Preeman had arrived at Camp Merritt and would soon leave for the Pacific Coast and received a letter Monday written a week before in which he expressed the hope that he would be home by the 20th. As one can never tell about the movements of these soldier lads, his mother wants to be on hand to welcome him should he get here sooner than the date set.

A HARDY PIONEER

HELPED TO FOUND DENVER AND COLORADO CITY, COLORADO, SIXTY YEARS AGO

Judge Rufus E. Cable, of Kansas City, Kansas, arrived in Glendale last Saturday to visit his son, Dr. Colin Cable, 505 South Columbus avenue, for a few days. He will then go to San Diego, later to San Francisco and on his way back to Kansas City will stop in Denver, visiting relatives in all these places.

Judge Cable is now 85 years of age and can look back on a long life of service to his country, not in war, but in the pursuits of peace.

On September 13, 1858, he with about 75 companions, started from Kansas City, Mo., across the trackless prairies to the then Far West, the Colorado region of the territory of Kansas. The party went in wagons and on horseback, as the first transcontinental railway was not begun until 9 years later. These 75 men started out with the intention of founding a future city. They traveled 42 days and finally reached the present site of the city of Denver, where they staked out an 80-acre tract, laid out streets and started to put up some houses. The main street was named for Gen. Larimer, who was in charge of the party and the new town was named Denver, in honor of the then governor of the Kansas territory. They stayed in the new town that winter and the next year while settlers were added from time to time. But two of the original number, Rufus E. Cable, then 24 years of age, and Melancthon S. Beach, still had the pioneer spirit and decided to push on further and locate another town. So they called together ten companions of like spirit and organized a company for the purpose of laying out a town at the entrance of Ute Pass at the base of Pike's Peak. Here on August 11, 1869, just 60 years ago Monday, the town of Colorado Springs was laid out, by

ROBERT LEHMAN

SON OF MR. AND MRS. CHARLES A. LEHMAN ENGAGED FOR THE WEEK AT GRAUMAN'S

Little Robert Lehman (son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lehman, of 935 North Louise street), who is a familiar figure at local entertainments in song and dance numbers, especially female impersonations, made his professional debut yesterday at Grauman's in Los Angeles, where he has been engaged for the week's program.

He is the second graduate from the Pearl Keller school to the professional stage. During the past six months he has been doing really wonderful work and has created special acts and numbers which have never been seen here. One of his cleverest, which will undoubtedly make a hit, is his impersonation of Julian Eltinge in his famous bathing act. The "Little Widow" number illustrating the song, "A Good Man Is Hard to Find," and his impersonation of Nan Halprin in a "Baby Doll" number, are also very fetching. His prospects for a bright professional future are very good and his work will be watched with interest by many Glendalians.

From his babyhood he manifested dramatic talent which his parents decided to cultivate, placing him under the instruction of Mrs. Pearl Keller, who has conscientiously developed his ability and given him the training which has made possible his professional appearance so early in life. In spite of the hard work he has done and his professional ambition, he is a real boy and so full of mischief he has often been the despair of his teacher, but now he has waked up and is working on his own account. His first public appearance was in June, 1916, at the Palace Grand at a pupils' recital when he did a little skirt dance that brought down the house. He was then but six years of age.

Last week Mrs. Keller took Robert to see Julian Eltinge, whose show at the Mason packed the house and made necessary an extra matinee. Mr. Eltinge was most kind and asked Robert to come and see him when he returns to Los Angeles in November prior to leaving on a three years' world tour.

At his first appearance on Monday he made a great hit and his reception by the big audience he faced was wonderful. Dramatic critics pronounce him a second Julian Eltinge and were especially impressed by the fact that he kept them guessing until the last. They declare he is undoubtedly the smallest female impersonator on the world's stage and predict a great future for him.

GOES TO EL MONTE

SIDNEY SIMON TO REPRESENT THE CHEVROLET IN THE SAN GABRIEL VALLEY

Sidney Simon, who has been agent for the Los Angeles Times here, is taking advantage of what appears to be a very good business opening and will leave Glendale Friday to make his home in El Monte, where he will be associated with J. E. Graham, formerly of Sunland, in the Chevrolet Agency in open territory. He is quite optimistic about the change as the Chevrolet is a popular car and the community into which he is going is the center of a rich farming district in which the ranchers appear to have plenty of money. He has not absolutely relinquished the Times Agency in Glendale, but has arranged with Fred Farner to carry it on for him, and his mother will be indirectly associated with it.

"MILD RESERVATIONS" FOR LEAGUE

POSSIBILITIES OF A COMPROMISE WITH LODGE AND OTHER OPPONENTS OF PEACE PACT AND LEAGUE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, August 12.—The movement for "mild reservations" in the league of nations was resumed today in the Senate. The supporters of this plan which it is said is acceptable to the president are arranging for a conference with Senator Lodge, the leader of the opposition to the league, believing they can convince those who are unqualifiedly supporting the treaty that mild reservations will be acceptable. It was pointed out that there is a general desire to ratify the treaty quickly as urged by the president in his food message as a means of lowering the cost of living.

President Wilson's opponents in the Senate are voicing bitterness over what is termed the "scantiness" of the information given by him to the Foreign Relations committee regarding the treaty and the league of nations negotiations.

DECLINE BEGINS IN FOOD PRICES

BIG DROPS REPORTED IN QUOTATIONS FROM BOSTON, NEW YORK, PHILADELPHIA AND CHICAGO

WASHINGTON, August 12.—Wholesale food dealers today began to make big reductions in the prices of vegetables, dressed meats and fruits, as shown by reports to the government. Comparisons with prices two weeks ago showed that a marked decline set in after the attack on unjustified prices began. Big drops were shown in the quotations from Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago.

COMBAT TROOPS RELEASED IN OCTOBER

SECOND DIVISION TO BE STATIONED AT CAMP TRAVIS, "SAN ANTONE" INSTEAD OF AT KEARNY

WASHINGTON, August 12.—Secretary Baker has announced that the demobilization of combat troops will practically be completed by the latter part of October. He announced that the Second Division, which had been slated for Camp Kearny will be permanently stationed at Camp Travis near San Antonio, Texas.

MAKING GOOD AND SAFE JOURNEY

FRENCH AIRPLANE GOLIATH REACHES MOROCCO ON SCHEDULE TIME EN ROUTE FOR SENEGAL

PARIS, Aug. 12.—The giant French airplane Goliath, under command of Lieutenant Bossoutrot, arrived at Casa Blanca, Morocco, at 6:40 yesterday afternoon en route for Dekar, the French colony in Senegal.

WOULD MAINTAIN AMERICAN ISOLATION

SENATOR LODGE PLEADS FOR A RETURN TO THE POLICY OF WASHINGTON AND MONROE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—"America independent will be of greater service to the world than America fettered by the league," Senator Lodge asserted today in his speech in the Senate. "By meddling in all the differences which may arise among mankind we simply fritter away our influence and injure ourselves to no good purpose," he declared. "We would be of far more value to the world and its peace by occupying as far as possible the situation we have filled for the last twenty years and adhering to the policy of Washington and Monroe."

HONOR MARINES OF SECOND DIVISION

PRESIDENT REVIEWS THEM AT WHITE HOUSE AND SENATE TAKES TWO HOURS' RECESS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The marines of the Second Division, including the veterans of the Marne, and Chateau Thierry passed in parade up Pennsylvania avenue this morning. The President reviewed them from the White House with two regiments in line. At the request of Senator Lodge the Senate took a recess of two hours to honor the marines.

TWENTY-FIVE-YEAR SENTENCE

IMPOSED BY JUDGE TAFT ON LEWIS B. HARRIS, BANK ROBBER, AND NEW TRIAL REFUSED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—Lewis B. Harris, who was convicted of robbing the First National Bank of Artesia, has been sentenced to twenty-five years in San Quentin by Judge Taft. A motion for a new trial was denied.

AN OBJECT LESSON

OLD PEACH ORCHARD RESPONDS TO INTELLIGENT CARE AND YIELDS HANDSOME RETURN

Francis Gilman has a small peach orchard which he has fertilized with brains and which is repaying him a hundred fold. Anyone who doubts this statement should step into his stationery store and inspect his bowl of peaches. It's the handsomest exhibit in stock. He takes no great credit for it because he learned a few horticultural stunts years ago in Santa Clara county before Glendale ever knew him.

When he leased the little acre farm where he is now living at 1241 East Harvard, he found as an asset 21 peach trees, the remnants of an orchard planted many years before by a Mr. Edmonds who first improved the property. Like a good husbandman he began to cultivate them, to prune and give water at the time they should have it, and the trees have responded with a yield that would have paid in beauty alone, for they are immense in size and lovely in coloring. Some of them have weighed as much as ten ounces. But the best of the proposition is the fact that they are the "Foster," as delicious in flavor as they are good to look at. They began ripening early and Mr. Gilman has been besieged by buyers ever since. Thus far he has picked and sold 75 boxes from the 21 trees. Vendors along the boulevards have offered him more than his retail prices because the fruit is so showy it readily commands 10c per pound in small lots.

Just the other side of the fence are trees of the same variety from the same orchard. They, too, are carrying crops and any one who needs an object lesson on what care and culture will do should inspect them and compare their product with Mr. Gilman's. Brains even when applied to old peach trees, make the difference between profit and loss.

NEARING HOME

Mrs. Ella W. Richardson received a wire from her son, Will, this morning, announcing that he would be in Los Angeles this evening en route to San Francisco to be discharged. The telegram was dated at Tucson, Arizona, and read as follows: "I will arrive in Los Angeles Tuesday evening on troop train on way to San Francisco to be discharged. Meet train with Paul and John. We may be there only a short time. We have been traveling through some very interesting country and stopping at the different towns."

Will has seen more than a year of foreign service, seven or eight months with the Army of Occupation on the Rhine and being with the Military Police was among the last to be sent home. Mrs. Richardson expects him to be discharged within a week or two.

FINE FIELD OF CORN

Dr. Colin Cable and wife have about the finest field of sweet corn in Glendale. It occupies an acre and a third on the north side of Lomita Ave. and reaching from Fred Volkhart's place, No. 407, to the Pacific Ave. school grounds. The ground has not been in cultivation before and it is producing heavily. It is thought 150 boxes of green corn, 450 dozen ears, will be realized from the field.

ELKS' DOINGS

AN AVALANCHE OF APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP MEANS 25 MORE INITIATIONS

The meeting of the local Elks' Lodge Monday evening was brief and uneventful except for the reception of a lot of applications for membership which will necessitate the initiation of about twenty-five new members next Monday. The membership drive is assuming the proportions of an avalanche. Already it has passed the 900 mark. The next meeting will therefore be a big and important one. While the initiatory work will be performed by local officers, there will be large delegations from other lodges, notably San Bernardino's organization.

The events of the present week among Elks have been announced as follows:

Tonight—Ladies' bowling night. This privilege to the wives and daughters of members is given twice a month by the lodge.

Wednesday the lodge's bowling team will go to Pasadena to play against the Pasadena's lodge team.

Thursday will be bowling tournament night for members.

BUILDING BOOM

NEW HOUSES IN MANY PARTS OF GLENDALE INDICATE EXPANSION AND PROSPERITY

Appearances indicate that a building boom is beginning in Glendale. Over on North Jackson street three new houses are going up. One, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Preston, for which C. W. Kent & Son have the contract, has already been described.

A second house is being erected by W. F. Knox for his own use on a lot purchased from Mrs. Charles Kent. His plans indicate a value of $4500 to $5000.

The third house, for which no particulars are immediately available will also be a very nice residence which is being built by Samuel (Dad) Malarkey.

The most sensational news of this nature has just been released by Kent & Son, who have the contract for an Italian villa to be built on a large lot at the corner of Lexington and Kenwood for Dr. T. C. Young. It will be of hollow tile, with seven fine living rooms on the first floor and a basement in which will be a billiard room, ballroom and banquet hall, and a den in which the game trophies that the doctor has collected on his hunting trips will be housed. The garage will be of similar construction with an apartment above containing a living room, bath and kitchen to be used for servants' quarters. Both buildings will have tile roofs. The house proper will also have many up-to-date features such as an automatic water-heating system, built-in refrigerators and electric stoves. There will likewise be a sun parlor and two large verandas.

The Kents are also building a neat bungalow on Vine street for Mrs. Rebecca Hodge Rogers.

AT LAKE TAHOE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kuntzner, son Burton and a party of friends have motored to Lake Tahoe with the expectation of spending two weeks there. This will not prevent "business as usual" at the Glendale Paint & Paper Store where Irving H. Oliver is in charge in the absence of the proprietor and very much at home as he has been there before.

WILLIAM THOMAS HARKER

William Thomas Harker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Harker, and husband of Mrs. Charlotte Harker, died at his home, 434 West Doran street, Sunday afternoon, August 10, 1919, at 6 o'clock. He had been a resident of Glendale only five months, coming here from the northern part of the State, but he was a native of California and had always resided in the state. He was born March 8, 1871.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Pulliam Parlors, and interment will be at Forest Lawn. Deceased was a brother of Mrs. S. C. Kinch of 328 North Brand boulevard, this city.

LIEUTENANT LAWSON

NOTIFIED BY ADJ.-GENERAL HE HAS BEEN RECOMMENDED FOR REGULAR ARMY COMMISSION

Lieut. Lawrence Lawson, son of J. W. Lawson of 1001 Melrose avenue, a balloon pilot, stationed at the Arcadia School, last week received a communication from the Adjutant-General at Washington that he had been recommended for a commission in the regular army in connection with the air service. He is only 23 years of age and has made an unusual record for a youngster. He likes the life, is evidently adapted to it, and is the kind of material wanted in the service. For some time he has been on the staff of the Colonel in command at Arcadia.

Just now army officers are in a state of great uncertainty, particularly in both branches of the air service. While provisions have been made for increasing the officers of the regular army from 9,000 to 18,000, no appropriation for the increase has been made. Neither has provision been made for an adequate air service, although sentiment in Congress and outside favors it. It is the belief among those best informed that when the League of Nations fight is over these things will receive attention and not before. The appropriations thus far provide for an army of only 100,000 men, the same number that disarmed and defeated Germany is permitted to maintain, but the Secreary of War is urging an increase to 500,000 with a prospect that his rec-

CAMPAIGN AMMUNITION

Propaganda of the 1912 campaign was that the election of Mr. Wilson and a Democratic congress would reduce the cost of living, and bring about a more generous distribution of this world's goods.

In 1914 when the world-war broke out every city of metropolitan size had bread lines and soup kitchens. Then the war came, and war-founded prosperity started the American mills running on every hand.

Propaganda in 1916 said that "he kept us out of war" and the voter was given the choice of Wilson and peace or Hughes and war according to the Democratic doctrine. The result proved that it was Wilson and war.

However, the war came and America emerged triumphantly, as we have in all wars.

But the high cost of living kept on climbing to new altitudes. The wage increases which the President jammed through in the midst of the campaign did not solve the high cost of living, according to the engineers' statement now, but the wage increase re-elected Mr. Wilson.

And now with the new campaign only a few months off, the engineers have launched another drive for higher wages, and prefaced it by telling Mr. Wilson that the cost of foods must come down or wages must go up. And not strange to relate the dispatches said that Mr. Wilson was "very much impressed" with the statement by the brotherhood spokesmen.

And the next 24 hours saw congress waking up and the administration officials from the White House down began to get busy on the food and wage problem, which is as old as the ages, and which has ever been a specter of alarming proportions under Democratic administrations which history proves.

Now we do not believe that the American people are going to be bamboozled with only a Bourbon investigation. Two campaigns of misleading statements have been enough to warn the people that the Democratic administration has not solved the problems that confront everyday life in this country. But what the Republican party wants to be on guard against is that the spell-binders of the administration hope to get away with their so-called hot air investigations and re-elect their administration on the strength of promises and pledges to do something they have utterly failed to accomplish in two terms.

There has been only war prosperity, good times due to abnormal conditions, and with the unrest here, the Republican standard bearers must go to the people with bigger evidence of ability to do things for the common wage earner than to be starting endless inquiries and costly investigations, which seldom materialize and relieve no unparalleled situations such as have come to be under Mr. Wilson. —Bakersfield Echo.

AMERICA, THE WORLD'S HOME OF OPPORTUNITY

Where is the person who says America is a horrid place, beset with evils and a mockery of justice?

Lead him around the world and he'll come home in sack cloth and ashes and hungry under his belt.

Abuses in America? Yes. Many of them. Profiiteers, liars, four-flushers and some bad laws and some paleozoic employes and some crazy people. We've probably got the biggest trusts in the world, just as we've got the tallest buildings and the most acres and the queerest legislators.

But there isn't a wrong thing in America that Americans can't fix whenever they want to badly enough. There isn't a wrong thing that isn't subject to the control of machinery that Americans either have ready to use or have the power to make. No honest person can have a grouch about a land that contains wrong things as long as the land offers the machinery for making things right.

In Europe they are just fighting their way up to a speaking acquaintance with what we've had for a long time. They are just getting their wages up to our levels, they are trying to get their standards of living up to somewhere near ours, they are trying to devise labor and capital machinery that will keep things right side up so they can live as well as we do. But we are still a lap and a half ahead of every count—and we're due to stay that way.

Furniture, food, clothes, steel, lumber, machines, tools, seeds—all these and a thousand other things, America must make for the world. America must be the world's great hive of industry, and so it must be the world's home of opportunity.—Stockton Record.

BANKERS OF COUNTRY DO PRAISEWORTHY SERVICE

When the banks of this country found themselves carrying first 4,000,000, then 10,000,000, then 17,000,000 and finally more than 20,000,000 people on their books, as Liberty bond subscribers they began to consider the extension of a bigger and broader service that would place financial institutions in closer relations with the public. Thousands of these subscribers had never patronized a bank before. A billion dollar increase in savings would have been a big item to the banks before the war. But bankers saw the public put this much money into war savings stamps almost as a matter of small change.

His experience with the war loans has made the banker anxious to serve the public, and Herbert Stryer, writing in the Dearborn Independent, enumerates some of the things that different banks are doing.

A Florida banker was asked to help finance a home for working girls. He thought the girls needed an opportunity to increase their earning capacity, and established a free night school of telegraphy, typewriting, stenography and bookkeeping in the lobby of his bank, acting as a teacher himself. Furthermore, he opened a free employment bureau to fill positions in a winter resort, where employment is often hard to find. That this is thrift in the truest sense is shown by the fact that this bank in a town of five thousand white population has $2,000,000 deposits.

A Nebraska bank has served two thousand farmers in its county and about five hundred corporations and individuals in the city by helping them make out and file their income tax returns. A complete income tax bureau has grown out of this service and in addition to careful management of money affairs it encourages, the bank has profited by the deposits of thrifty, careful citizens.

A bank in Elkhart, Indiana, not only puts into its vaults Liberty bonds and war savings stamps entrusted to it by small holders, but absolutely guarantees safety of these securities without cost, entering the face value of the bonds and stamps in depositors' pass books as a receipt. When the bond coupons become due the bank clips them and enters them on the deposit book. War savings stamps are accepted in multiples of $50. This is thrift for the bank as well as for the public, for it has been found that nine times out of ten depositors leave all the interest money in the bank. Moreover, this bank has developed many checking acounts among its savings depositors by the unusual device of paying 3 per cent interest on checking balances exceeding $200. This means that a thrifty person with $300 or $400 (who never permits his balance to fall below $200) can have all the conveniences of a checking account in paying bills, with the interest bearing of a savings account.

A bank in Arkansas serves its public by taking an entire page in the local newspaper weekly, printing a thrift advertisement of its own at the top, and devoting the other space to small advertisements handed in by citizens, which are published free of charge. Through this clearing house people of the town advertise for help and positions; buy, sell and rent real estate, proclaim lost and found articles, and the like. And the bank profits by the opportunity to speak on thrift subjects each week.

A bank in Youngstown, Ohio, pays especial attention to the needs of foreign-born workers, having nine tellers who speak fourteen languages, and are not only ready to receive deposits, cash checks, transmit money elsewhere and aid in the purchase of war savings stamps, but also to give information about the city and America, and assist in the transaction of any business foreign-born folks may have on hand. The manager of this department speaks several foreign languages and was sent by the bank to Europe to study foreign exchange conditions and establish trustworthy bank connections in England, France, Italy, Russia and the Balkan states. —Riverside Press.

Personals

W. L. Truitt is moving from 310 North Cedar to 228 North Orange street.

Mrs. Roy Smythe of Nogales, Arizona, came last Saturday to spend a few weeks with Mrs. N. M. Knauss, 344 Vine St.

Miss Ione Virden, who assists her father in the Tropico Drug Store, goes to Catalina in a few days for a week's outing.

Joseph F. Lilly, now a business man of Bakersfield, spent the week-end with Mrs. Lilly at his home at 332 North Jackson street.

Mr. Moore, proprietor of the Irish Linen Store, has returned from a week's outing at Big Bear and reports a goodly number of Glendale people there.

The family of A. E. Fulscher, 509 East Harvard, recently returned from a two weeks' outing at Long Beach and expect to spend another week there before school opens.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bott have gone north for a two weeks' vacation trip. Their itinerary will probably carry them to the Oregon line or beyond. Their store in their absence is in charge of Mrs. Brain.

There will be the usual supper, committee meetings and prayer meeting at Central Christian Church tomorrow evening. Rev. Cole will be present after four weeks spent in work at different conventions.

Mrs. N. M. Knauss and little daughter recently returned to their home at 344 Vine street after an absence of a year in Nogales, Arizona. Mr. Knauss is still in Arizona working for a big copper company at Courtland.

Jesse Smith, of the Ford Agency, is at the Burbank Hospital, recovering from a minor operation, which was performed last Friday. He is in no danger, but we all certainly miss his cheery presence and jolly smile. Here's to a very quick recovery, Jesse.

Charles Shattuck received Saturday a card from Emil Keefer written aboard the U. S. S. Kentucky in Atlantic waters which was dated August 5th and which read: "One month from today I will be on my way home." Emil's brother is in the same service and with him on the Kentucky.

Miss Lois Duncan, whose marriage to John Cate will be celebrated early in September, was guest of honor last Friday at a little luncheon at Christopher's given for her by the teachers of Brea school, where she taught last year. Following the luncheon the party attended the matinee at the Mason and saw Julian Eltinge.

Rev. Ferguson occupied the pulpit of Rev. O. P. Rider last Sunday. Rev. and Mrs. Rider are taking a vacation of several weeks which they will spend at Le Mesa near San Diego, where Mr. Rider was pastor of a church for four years. They have taken a cottage there and their daughter Ruth will be with them. During their absence there will be no evening services at the Tropico Presbyterian Church.

Oscar Duke of 1233 Boynton recently ordered in ad for 15 days to sell his apricots. In three days he ordered it out, as he had sold every bit of the fruit. Monday he had a liner inserted, to run for several days, advertising peaches and plums. This morning he called up and implored us to kill that ad at once. "My fruit's gone already and they are driving me wild with telephone calls about it," was his plaint.

R. P. Jodon of 224 South Louise, who hurt his leg two weeks ago while carrying a heavy load up the concrete incline at Machinery Hall, is still going about on crutches. The big muscle in the calf of the leg was torn, affecting the nerves of knee and ankle and producing an effect like a sprain to both. It will be a week before he can get to work. He has a very lucrative offer from a firm in Fresno which he proposes to accept if still open when he recovers.

G. F. Stone, auditor of the Pacific Division of the Red Cross, was a visitor at the Glendale Chapter, Monday, and after going over the books reported that he found everything in shipshape. He said that he liked the way in which the vouchers had been filed and the records kept. As soon as the monthly statement has been checked by Miss Vesey, the official auditor of the chapter, it will be published in the News. Miss Vesey, who established the Glendale Commercial School, is now connected with a prominent audit company of Los Angeles.

Mrs. T. J. Morgan has just returned from a week's stay at Redondo Beach, where her husband and children joined her for the week-end. She had a very pleasant time, but reports conditions rather crowded there and that many people were disappointed who expected to see the fleet from that point Sunday. She and her family spent last winter in Vancouver, Washington, and say the southern beaches are far ahead of anything they saw in that part of the coast, but that the northern inhabitants have so much rain there is less need for them to seek any other kind of water.

PRICES AT PEAK

SITUATION IN H. C. L. REVIEWED BY M. J. BRENNAN, RETURNED FROM CHICAGO

M. J. Brennan, of 519 North Central avenue, western representative of the Marshall Field Corporation, recently returned from a business trip to the east, and is able to throw considerable light on the business situation, which he says is bound up in the H. C. L. problem.

He is optimistic about the effect of the Federal investigation of food prices which he declares is serious and which he is confident will force the release of billions of tons of foodstuffs which have been stored in warehouses by profiteers. Illinois has a law, he says, which forbids the holding of foods in cold storage warehouses longer than six months, and if that is enforced, as he thinks it will be, there will be an immediate effect and food prices will begin to come down, because there is plenty of food in the world and the problem is simply to put it in circulation.

In manufactured articles, particularly fabrics, the reduction will be more gradual because there is a real shortage of production due in part to lack of labor and reduction of the hours of labor. It is his conviction that in this connection prices are now at the peak, that labor has received the maximum wage that may be expected and if a reduction in food prices can be brought about there will be no justification for any increase along that line.

In reviewing the situation he states that the prices of fabrics had a slump in February, but started up again in April and today are thirty to fifty per cent. higher than at that date; but he does not believe manufacturers can consistently make a further advance in the face of present conditions. The increase in some lines of merchandise has been 200 to 600 per cent. while in others it is but 100 per cent. This shows, he says, that there is a "nigger in the woodpile" and that somewhere between the manufacturer and the consumer products have passed through the hands of several middlemen who have secured extra profits.

The increased value of the Mexican dollar has played a big part in the price of silk, for it is the money which has long been used in the payment for Japanese and Chinese merchandise. In the past its value was about half that of the American dollar but now, being one hundred per cent. silver, it is worth $1.10 and has therefore a greatly reduced purchasing power. Also the big demand from the United States has had its effect on the stock exchange at Tokio which is just as keen to take advantage of a situation as is the New York exchange, to treble in price, and it may go even higher. In concluding his review of conditions, Mr. Brennan said:

"I found everybody in the east very prosperous. The general tendency seems to be toward shorter hours of labor which are dropping from 54 to 48 per week and in some cases to 44 hours for both men and

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Congregational Church will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Blake Franklin, 398 West Wilson avenue, for an all-day meeting Thursday, when a complete report of the last food sale will be received.

Miss Carol Duncan, daughter of Dr. A. M. Duncan and teacher in the Intermediate School, has completed a course of summer work at U. S. C. where Miss Clara Midcalf also took some special work. Miss Midcalf is spending the summer with her sister in Los Angeles.

Comrades Collins, Barrett, Norton and Patterson will go to Sawtelle tomorrow to take part in two big feeds. At noon the Spanish War Veterans entertain the boys with a picnic dinner at the Soldiers' Home. In the evening Governor Stephens is host to the veterans at a dinner in the mess hall.

James L. Grose of the Grose Vulcanizing Company is beginning to transfer his stock to his new place of business, the milk-white and most attractive oil station at the corner of Maryland and Broadway. Pumps are to be installed and a dressing of crushed granite to be applied to his roadway and parking place, but he hopes to be ready very soon to handle his trade in the new location.

George Sawyer, who for two years was at the head of the Commercial Department of Glendale Union High and who recently tendered his resignation, has accepted a position with the San Diego High School. His place will be filled by J. Rhea Baker who comes to Glendale from Santa Ana, where he has been for the past eight years. He is having a hard time finding a house in which to live.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Worley of 525 North Kenwood street, left Saturday for the east in the expectation of being away until about the first of the year. Mr. Worley conducts several dry goods stores in that part of the country and the trip he is making is a business one in connection with those stores. His son, John Worley, is still at Hemet where he took a position after school closed. The Worley home has been leased to Dr. Eames, brother of Dr. Leslie Eames of Gardena avenue.

GORMAN LAUNCH PARTY

MEETS PACIFIC FLEET, IS CHASED BY SUBMARINES, BUT ESCORTS IT TO HARBOR

W. W. Gorman, who formerly resided on East Harvard street in this city and who still considers himself a Glendalian, was the host at a launch party which breasted the waves on Saturday and went out about fifteen miles to meet the Pacific Fleet. There were about thirty in the company which included Mr. Gorman's sons, Stanley, Harry and Sidney, and his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Levell. They secured some very fine photographs both of the fleet as a whole and on board the Wyoming, on which they were guests during the afternoon. They left San Pedro about 11:30 a. m. and in the course of their cruise had the excitement of being chased by the submarines which were policing the fleet, but they managed to evade them and come in with the big vessels at the finish.

The shipyards at San Pedro where Mr. Gorman is employed as foreman of a department are said to be busier than ever with contracts for larger vessels than they have been constructing and the building of dry docks.

STILL ANOTHER BURGLARY

Sunday evening between 8:30 and 9:30, while the moon was flooding everything with radiance, a burglar or burglars cut a hole in the rear screeen door at Fred Thompson's residence, 214 West Harvard, and gained entrance. A valuable gold watch and a $2.50 gold piece pendant belonging to Mrs. Thompson, were stolen. The remainder of the family's valuables they had securely hidden or had with them.

These evening burglaries are becoming very common and show evidence of being all the work of one man or gang. They manage to hide their identity so as to leave no clue for the police to work on. People should be very careful not to leave their homes entirely untenanted for any length of time, and to keep no valuables unless they are well secured.

ANNEXATION INDUCEMENTS

The Los Angeles City Council is just now debating the adoption of the most drastic licensing ordinance ever proposed by any city. It will place a heavy tax on every business, wholesale and retail, and on every professional man. It is claimed to be absolutely necessary to impose some such licensing system to make up for the loss of saloon license revenue. Glendale has never had a saloon, therefore has not depended on revenue from that source, yet does not impose license fees on her business and professional men. And Los Angeles' tax rate is much higher than Glendale's and increasing each year. Wonderful inducements they can offer for a city like Glendale to annex.

DR. BACHMAN'S STUDIO

Dr. C. W. Bachman reports that he expects a new motion picture company to take possession of his studio on Windsor Road next week, one which will make western films exclusively. It has quite an elaborate equipment including a lot of horses.

For some time local companies have been occupying the studio at intervals, for western films, most of the big scenes in the "Westerners" shown at the Palace Grand last Saturday afternoon and evening having been "shot" on Dr. Bachman's western street. The Al. Jennings Company has also been making considerable western stuff there.

The doctor's son, Leon Bachman, had the pleasure of entertaining at a dinner party his army pal, Ralph Moore, when he was here a week ago on his way home to Oakland. He was with the Second Division, but came home as a casual and was discharged in New York.

BOUGHT FIRST NEW MAXWELL

A. E. Fulscher of 509 East Harvard bought the first 1920 Maxwell of the new agency of Geo. W. Campbell & Co. and is driving it with the greatest satisfaction.

HEADWEAR FOR MERMAIDS

Women should be as discriminating in the choice of a bathing cap as in selecting a street hat. Protection of the hair is, of course, the main object of a bathing cap, but many women who know the value of enhancing their charms in other ways overlook this opportunity and seem to think that any style in a bathing cap is good enough.

We have many styles and sizes in bathing caps. They are made of fine, firm and durable rubber. They will afford absolute protection from the salty surf and you can surely find one here to match your bathing suit and be becoming and comfortable.

"SEEING THE WARSHIPS"

THOUSANDS TRICKED OF THEIR MONEY BY MOTOR BOAT COMPANY AT SAN PEDRO

Monday was almost as big a day at San Pedro as Sunday and Saturday. People were there by thousands hoping to go on board some of the warships. One Glendale young lady described her experience, which was that of many others, as follows: "We got down to San Pedro about 2:30, bought tickets at 50 cents each entitling us to take passage on a motor boat to one of the war vessels. We were herded into an enclosure where we stood for hours, it seemed, all jammed together, waiting for a motor boat. At last one came and it was announced that 25 passengers could be accommodated. It was filled at once. Then came one with a 75-passenger capacity. We pushed and pulled and climbed over people till we got aboard. There was no roof or awning and we simply roasted in the hot sun. We approached one battleship, circled around it, then another and then a third. No attempt was made to put us aboard any of the ships. Then our boat turned around and headed for the shore despite our protests. We had been defrauded of our money, but there was no redress. When we landed at last we tried to get aboard one of the destroyers, but an officer politely informed us we were too late. We had spent $1.15 each for car and boat fare with the positive understanding that we should be taken on board one of the warships. The motor boat company sold 50-cent tickets to people long after they must have known that few of them could be received on board a ship. They must have cleared thousands of dollars each day by their fraudulent practices."

PLENTY OF PEACHES FOR CANNING

With the numerous ads in the Evening News for the sale of peaches, no housewife can say she could not get fruit for canning. Prices range from 2 cents a pound by the lug box to 5c. Of course, the cheaper ones are very small. Very fair-sized fruit can be purchased at $1 and $1.25 a box and extra fine at $1.50. Orange, lemon and strawberry clings will come in later.

Beach and Cable, who were delegated to proceed on horseback to the designated place. A sign was painted setting forth the claim and boundaries of the company and the town. A tract of 1280 acres, extending a mile in width and two miles long, from Camp Creek to Monument Creek, was staked off and the sign was erected. During the first week several of the members of the company came down from Denver and put up tents on the town site and began building cabins. A dozen were soon erected and the town began to grow. By winter the population consisted of 300 men and eight women. In June, 1860, a general store was opened, also a small grocery, which was soon sold to the larger concern. Several other merchants came later in the year and opened stores for the sale of miners' supplies. Game was very plentiful and the settlers could have all the wild turkeys, deer, elk and bear meat they could use. In 1861 Colorado City was made capital of the territory by a vote of the legislature. The second session, however, adjourned to Denver during its sitting, claiming there were not sufficient accommodations in Colorado City. Denver then became the capital and so remains to this day. Col. Beach, the early comrade and partner of Mr. Cable, insists that to the latter belongs the honor of giving the "Garden of the Gods" its name, and relates the incident of its naming, as follows: A few years after I laid out the townsite of Colorado City for the Denver company, I was through the beautiful, natural garden which has since become world-renowned. My companion was Rufus E. Cable, one of my companions in the townsite adventure, and now a prominent lawyer of Kansas City, Kansas. As we rode through this wonderful park Mr. Cable, who was of rather a sentimental, poetic turn of mind, was deeply impressed with the silent grandeur of the scene. I brought him to earth with a dull thud by remarking: "Don't you think, Cable, that this would be a great place for a metropolitan beer garden?" I shall never forget the expression of disgust that came over his face as he replied: "It's a fit place for a Garden of the Gods. Let that be its name." This incident was told about the settlement and in a comparatively short time the spot was generally known by that name. This is the true story of the origin of the name.

Judge Cable's early years were spent in Lawrenceville, Pa., three miles from Pittsburg, and he was a boyhood chum of Andrew Carnegie, who died Monday morning. They worked together in the same mill for a time. Then he moved to the state of Kansas, locating in Kansas City, then called Wyandotte. He became a councilman from the second ward when but 23 years old. Then he went with the party that laid out Denver and Colorado City. He lived in the latter place three years, then returned to Wyandotte, which has since been his home, though he made many long visits to the two cities he helped to bring into being.

ommendations will be accepted by Congress.

While Lieutenant Lawson is liable to be sent anywhere, he is reasonably certain to remain at Arcadia for several months as he is transportation officer and has charge of all autos, trucks, etc., with a million and a half dollars' worth of stuff for which he is responsible. His transfer to some other post would mean the checking up of all this material which would require about two months. While it is supposed that the Arcadia School is to remain, the force is being steadily reduced. Fifty per cent. of the officers who were there two months ago have been discharged. It is the opinion of well-posted army men that the need of air service along the Mexican border will insure the permanency of this school.

When asked if the hazards of the service in which his son is engaged caused him anxiety he said no, that he is somewhat of a fatalist and believes that if destiny has ruled that one is to be killed by an aeroplane accident he will not lose his life in a train wreck; in other words, it is his creed that our lives are ordered and it is useless to worry over what may happen.

women. I found the hotels everywhere full to capacity and the trains much crowded all the way west with people going to the Yellowstone, to California and other places. On that account it was hard to get reservations. There appears to be plenty of money in the country and people are spending it in enjoyment. Also the tendency seems to be toward the purchase of better articles. Everybody demands quality; no one wants anything that will not give good service."

Mr. Brennan stated that for several nights he was unable to sleep in Chicago on account of the heat and that he was exceedingly glad to get back to his California home.

Los Angeles capitalists will cut Spanish Cedar, ebony and mahogany timber from 16,000 acres they own in Central America and ship it rough to Los Angeles to be manufactured into furniture.

STATE NEWS

(By United Press)

PACIFIC GROVE, Cal., Aug. 12.—Advocating a Psychopathic Hospital for Northern and Central California, Dr. Jau Don Ball, lecturer for the Department of Criminology of the University of California, laid before the Women's Christian Temperance Union convention the benefits to be derived from such a hospital. Dr. Ball pointed out the absolute necessity of mental health if social efficiency and true economic efficiency is to be maintained. In summing up the benefits of a Psychopathic Hospital Dr. Ball said that they can be shown in the following: (1) Lessening the number of custodial cases; (2) search for causes; (3) issue of mental hygiene propaganda; (4) determine responsibility of criminal cases; (5) prevent suicides; (6) lessen the expense of the State Industrial and Accident Commission; (7) prevent and lessen crime; (8) salvage nervously and mentally wrecked individuals; (9) aid in solution of social evils; (10) give untold returns in social efficiency.

PACIFIC GROVE, Cal.—Four solutions are presented in the United States for the solution of Capital and Labor antagonism, declared Dr. Tully C. Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific, speaking before the W. C. T. U. Congress of Reforms today. The solutions are: (1) Armed hostility; (2) legal repression; (3) a socialized state; (4) industrial understanding and co-operation. This last method, Dr. Knoles says, comprises profit-sharing schemes, joint control, and joint management. He further states that all are in successful operation.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal.—Characterized as "one of the most remarkable young criminals of the age," Seth Burt, alias Edward Langdon, 22 years of age, was today formally charged with the murder of David Morehouse, a night watchman at Paso Robles on the night of May 7th. Burt has signed a confession admitting the murder. With him is held and charged Hugh Moore, 19, who was with Burt on the night of the murder. In his confession to Sheriff Taylor, Burt frankly admits the crime charged, saying that Moore was not a party to the murder. He coolly described how he and Moore entered the hardware store in Paso Robles, and were discovered by Watchman Morehouse. Seeing they were apprehended, Burt declares he opened fire on the officer and that several shots were exchanged before Morehouse was fatally hit. The two young men were arrested the next evening in a stolen automobile en route to Los Angeles. Burt, who claims to be the son of a Burlingame judicial officer, confessed to hundreds of automobile thefts and other robberies. He also claims the distinction of having kidnaped a 16-year-old high school girl of Ashland, Oregon.

SAN JOSE, Cal.—More than 450 Chiefs and Warriors, representing 130 tribes of the order of Red Men gathered in their annual Sun Session here today. This is the fifty-third annual pow-wow of the order. The Degree of Pocahontas, the women's auxiliary, is also holding forth at the same time. James T. Rogers, of Binghamton, N. Y., Great Incohonee of the order, is the guest of honor for the convention.

VALLEJO, Cal.—A fitting tribute to the gallant service of Major Randolph Talcott Zane, the destroyer Zane plunged down the shipways here today. The vessel was named in honor of Major Zane, who died of wounds received in the battel of Belleau Wood, during June, 1918, while a member of the United States Medical Corps in France. The launching of the vessel was attended by Major Zane's widow, and the vessel was christened by Zane's five-year-old daughter, Marjorie. Mrs. Zane is the daughter of Governor William D. Stephens of California. A short time previous to his death, Major Zane, then a captain, was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal by General Pershing and raised to the rank of Major.

THE PANAMA CANAL IS OURS FOR OUR DEFENSE

Our Panama canal, which we built with our own money, has in the past demostrated itself as a marvelous quickener of commerce in piping times of peace.

And now we have just seen what a wonderful factor it can be in the defense of our country.

The Pacific fleet passed through this short cut from the Atlantic to the Pacific a few days ago, and in the evening floated majestically on the western ocean.

Six mammoth dreadnaughts of the deepest draught made the canal in good style, while for the lesser craft the voyage was no difficult threadneedle business at all.

Thus in a day was accomplished what before August 15, 1914, would have required steaming around the Horn or through the Straits of Magellan—such a delay as the old battleship Oregon fought against in that historic plunge for Cuban waters at the outset of the Spanish-American war.

That now obsolete craft made a wonderful record as records went in those canalless days.

But how we have progressed is borne deeply into our minds by this event of Saturday, July 26th.

Not only is it a matter of pride for the annihilation of time, but it brings confidence to the people on the El Dorado coast. The coming of this fleet fosters a sense of security in the face of whatever hostilities might thunder like the typhoon out of Asia.

This passage marks recognition at last of the poor policy of the past in leaving the Pacific unprotected and the reform of the policy into one of recognition of the need and the right of this coast to the security which these floating fortresses give.

Nor will any so-called international brotherhood, with its seething hates beneath the surface, its brutal injustices to the weak, its sacrifices of the nationalism that has made this nation what it is—be permitted by us to internationalize this Panama canal.

That canal is our canal built with our money and bone and sinew.

And we shall use it for our protection—throwing it open for the world's commerce in times of peace.—Sacramento Bee.

OPPOSITION TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Opposition to the League of Nations is growing apace. Last Saturday an election was held in the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky to fill a vacancy, and, for the first time since the Civil War, the Republican candidate was elected by a majority of 1200. Now comes the news that the Democratic State Committee of Missouri has repudiated the so-called League, and thereby endorsed Senator Reed's objections to it. And, further, certain prominent Democrats in Massachusetts, among whom are several members of the Old Bay State's Legislature, have demanded that the Democratic National Committee call a meeting to condemn the President's advocacy of the League, and, incidentally, thirteen other pieces of legislative folly to which he is, or has been, a party.

It is refreshing to see that patriotic men in both great parties are refusing to follow the orders of people who would sell their country to hostile foreign interests. If Messrs. Wilson, Taft, et al., wish to engineer entangling alliances (to call the thing by no harsher a name), they will find that the American people are in no humor to sanction their unpatriotic desires.—The Tidings.

THINK, THINK, THINK

Labor radicalism and threatened strikes and industrial warfare have just about forced industry into a corner.

During the past six months, industries such as mining have maintained operations for two purposes only, to hold their organizations intact and to give employment to labor during a critical time.

The Reds have kept up their cry, however, for still higher wages and shorter hours in the face of a declining market.

Continued labor radicalism can bring but one result, the closing of mines and other industries. Conservative labor leaders may stem the tide, if they do not, the radical elements win the day, close industries and create unemployment with its empty dinner buskets and suffering.

Let the honest labor counsel with the honest employer before he assists in creating such havoc.—The Manufacturer.

REAL AMERICANS

The Indianapolis Calendonian club, composed of citizens of Scottish birth, has voiced the sentiment of its members in the following creed, to the spirit of which every citizen, whether of foreign or American birth, would do well to subscribe:

I am a foreigner by birth. I choose to be an American. I am living as an American. I shall die as an American. And I will perform the duties incumbent upon me as an American to the end of my career. I mean to do this as an American with disregard of personal consequences. What am I or why should I think of my personal welfare at any time? When my country calls, let the consequences be as or what they may. My country first. I cannot suffer too much if suffering is for my country's good. If I suffer let it be for my country. My country first in prosperity, in adversity, in sickness, in health, in peace or in war. Let me hold my country's honor and flag to remain clean and untarnished at all times.—Indianapolis News

"KRIEG" AND "GUERRE"

The German word for war, krieg, is derived from kriegen, which means to get hold of other people's property. The English word war and the French word guerre have their roots in the verbs "to ward" and "to guard." In other words, the German idea of war has always been spoliation, whereas the French and English idea has been defense.—Youth's Companion.
